ESTIMATES MOVEMENT.

The Cuban gunboat Cuba left Havana for Guantanamo yesterday morning with 600 troops. The Government has sent other forces by train to the province of Orienta. Apparently the Government has been unable to estimate the strength or purpose of the present insurrectory movement. The Cuban military authorities admit that the situation is serious, but think they situation is serious, but think they can control it. The Government is said to be receiving from various organizations and individuals offers pf services.

Havana last night for their respec-tive districts in the disaffected regions to make an effort toward conciliating the negroes.

It is reliably reported to the de-partment that many intelligent people consider that the entire movement is for the express purpose of provoking intervention.
No State Department official would ent on the significant remark about provoking intervention, but it has been a matter of discussion here for some time among the diplomatic corps that the Cuban Government itself might that the Cuban Government itself might be tempted to encourage a rebellious movement in the desperate hope of securing continuance in power by American backing.
